Reports From Other Bodies

The President's report, appended to the minutes, noted the approval of a balanced budget for 2025-26 by the Board of Governors on April 24, 2025. The President extended his appreciation to the Office of the Vice-President, Finance and Administration, and to all contributing units for their efforts in achieving this outcome.

The President was also pleased to announce that Nipissing University celebrated the largest gift towards research and knowledge translation in its history, $5 million from the Hilary and Galen Weston Foundation. This milestone follows the outstanding work of Senator Mary Pat Sullivan, whose leadership secured an initial $400,000 grant to support families affected by rare and early onset dementia. He extended sincere thanks to Senator Sullivan, her team, our advancement and support offices, and event staff, and offered heartfelt congratulations on a project that will impact thousands across Canada.

The Provost and Vice-President Academic provided a report, which is appended to the minutes.

The Vice-President, Finance and Administration (VPFA) presented the 2025-26 Budget, emphasizing its alignment with the Academic and Operational Plan (APOP) and the Pathways Strategic Plan to promote financial sustainability. Key highlights included:

Financial Performance:

- Projected 2024–25 consolidated surplus of approximately $6 million, including a $5.8 million positive variance in the Operating Fund due to increased grant revenues.
- Ancillary Fund projects a $382K deficit due to higher maintenance expenses.
- Reserves are forecasted to exceed $15 million.

2025–26 Budget Overview:

- Budgeted revenues are $1.5 million lower than 2024–25, primarily due to reduced international tuition.
- Grants are steady with no Northern Grant top-up assumed.
- Expenses increased by $4.8 million, largely driven by salaries and benefits.
- Consolidated surplus of $272 projected for 2025–26.

Enrolment & SEM Targets:

- Fiscal Full-Time Equivalent (FFTE) enrolments are below Strategic Enrolment Management (SEM) targets.
- Strategies are being developed to narrow the gap and improve tuition revenue.

Ancillary Operations:

- Growth in Extended Learning revenue through youth programming, AQ/ABQ course reallocation, and micro-credential offerings.
- Efforts are underway to improve the profitability of all ancillary divisions.

Capital Budget:

- Nearly $4.7 million in capital projects planned for 2025–26, funded by various sources including operating funds, donations, and renewal grants.

Ministry Oversight:

- Due to improved financial metrics, the university has moved from a medium to low action plan status under the Ministry's Financial Accountability Framework and is projected to stay at low action until 2026-27
- Annual reporting to the Ministry will continue until full compliance is achieved.

The VPFA welcomed questions and feedback. The full 2025-26 Budget Report is appended to the minutes.

The Council of Ontario Universities Academic Colleague provided a report, which is appended to the minutes.

The Nipissing University Student Union (NUSU) provided a report, which is appended to the minutes.

Question Period

Following the announcement of the $5 million investment to support the continued development and national expansion of Rare Dementia Support Canada (RDS Canada), Professor Laurie Kruk was recognized by the Speaker and inquired about potential projects and faculty hiring. The President noted that the donation will help establish a national centre for RDS Canada, expand the care team, and develop immersive support environments using advanced technology. These efforts aim to build healthcare capacity and strengthen national and international research and education partnerships.

The President clarified that the donation is designated for operations and will not fund new faculty positions. In addition to operational support, $250,000 will fund post-doctoral fellows to support Dr. Sullivan's research and this project. Hiring, job postings, and financial administration will follow established university processes. The federal and provincial governments have also been approached to extend the project beyond the Weston Foundation's current five-year funding term, ideally in perpetuity. Additionally, Senator Sullivan has received a $750,000 CIHR grant to support related research efforts over the coming years. Divisions may pursue a CRC or fundraise for Research Chairs to further support the initiative.

Senator Sullivan also noted that the Foundation's support enables the delivery of rare dementia services and provides an opportunity to translate research discoveries into real-world impact for those affected by these dementias. The support services inform ongoing research, which is further strengthened by funding for post-doctoral fellows. This integration allows research findings to be applied in practice, enhancing both care delivery and the Centre's capacity for education and training.

In response to a question about Athletics revenue for 2024-25, the VPFA advised that final figures will not be available until financial reconciliations and analysis are completed, as current figures reflect only budgeted expenses. Budgeted transfers have increased slightly from the previous fiscal year to offset higher projected expenses through fundraising initiatives.

Regarding university spending on the Performing Arts in 2024-25, the VPFA noted that she could not provide an immediate answer, as determining the total would require a review of the relevant expense and revenue lines.

In response to an inquiry about a perceived drop in the Office of Indigenous Initiatives (OII) budget, the VPFA clarified that there has been no actual decrease. A staff leave was factored into the budget, which may give the appearance of a reduction. She also noted that the appendices reflect only the operating budget, excluding one-time grants, donations, and other external funding, which continue to support OII activities. Overall spending is expected to increase.

Regarding the vacancy in the OII Director position since mid-October, the VPFA explained that unspent salary funds contribute to the university's overall surplus.

In response to a question comparing our financial position to the significant deficits faced by other universities, and asking where future risks may lie, the VPFA explained that while we appear nimble, this is due in part to a decade of prior deficits that forced us into a rebuilding phase. While projections had been improving, the outlook has recently shifted. Our financial caution, driven by limited revenue, meant we avoided some risks but also made sacrifices, including underinvestment in infrastructure, which we are now addressing. Our smaller international student population spared us some pressures but also limited revenue opportunities.

The President added that many institutions became heavily reliant on international tuition, a dependency we avoided. A good argument was presented to the government and an extra $20 million of grant funding has been received over the past four years and this continues. However, the cost of delivering education exceeds what we collect in tuition, creating a structural funding gap. He noted that tuition models and government funding frameworks need to change to incorporate a sustainable, long-term funding solution. He also emphasized the importance of international students.

In response to a comment about the anticipated difficulty in accommodating the rise in domestic students by 2046, the President noted that universities are actively planning for this challenge. Our institution has a plan to increase domestic enrollment, supported by a government initiative to add 1,500 STEM students by 2029-30. He emphasized that system-wide expansion will be necessary and will require continued government support.

The President expressed confidence in the expertise guiding these efforts and assured that there is no need for concern at this stage. Extensive planning is already underway, and we are well-positioned for the next several years. He reaffirmed the university's commitment to continued strategic planning to ensure long-term success.

The VPFA emphasized the need for change to ensure long-term sustainability. She noted that the Efficiency Review reinforces existing efforts, and that the university is prioritizing investments in administrative efficiencies to support this work.

In response to a question about potential tuition increases, particularly in light of significant program cuts and deficits at many colleges, the VPFA advised that tuition will be increased where permitted. However, legislative and tuition framework restrictions limit where adjustments can be made. She also noted that universities operate under different conditions than colleges, which affects their financial strategies.

President's Senate Report

9 May 2025

Good morning Senators, a very brief report today. On April 24, the Board of Governors approved a balanced budget for 2025-26. Our thanks to the office of the Vice-President Finance and Administration and to all of our units for their work.

On Wednesday of this week, we hosted members of our internal and external community to celebrate the largest gift towards research and knowledge translation in Nipissing University history. For those not familiar with the context of this gift, we congratulate Senator Mary Pat Sullivan for her outstanding work which led to an initial $400,000 grant from the Hilary and Galen Weston Foundation. The emerging project provided support to families whose member experienced rare and early onset dementia, primarily in an online platform. Mary Pat's team which included students on placement eventually reached 344 families with stories of success and gratitude pouring in from across Canada. Mary Pat's team and RDS was quietly developing a significant reputation among family members, caregivers, and health care professionals – and anecdotally they have been reporting back to other Nipissing University staff members that they've come into contact with at conferences and events in other provinces. The Foundation challenged us to think big and our team coalesced around the idea of creating a national hub for rare dementia supports and services in North Bay. As part of our application to the Foundation, we raised $250,000 from the Peacock Foundation gift, and committed to more than a million dollars of overhead and administrative support for the project and the promise to solicit further funding from both levels of government to sustain the project for a longer period. As you heard, the Foundation believed in the project and has generously given $5m. We have worked for more than a year on this project and I want to thank Mary Pat and her team, our advancement team, the many offices which provided support, and to our event staff which hosted this week. Most of all we congratulate Mary Pat Sullivan on this wonderful research and knowledge translation which will benefit thousands of people across Canada in the coming years.

Provost & Vice-President, Academic

Report to Senate – May 2025

PVPA's Report

1. We are at the end of the Winter 2024-25 term. And I want to commend the work of students, staff and faculty to conclude another successful term.

Thanks you to those of you who were able to attend March Research Month events. The Office of Research Innovation and Graduate Studies supported a variety of events, including NU360 – an opportunity for 6 faculty to each present their research in 6 minutes, 3 minute thesis (3MT) competition, and the Undergraduate Research Conference which engaged the avid participation of students and faculty and was kicked off by a keynote address by Dr. Kirsten Greer in which she reflected on her life and career as an historical geographer. A special thank you to local community members Donna Backers, Chad Evans and Kathy Wilcox who served as judges for the 3MT competition.

2. The staff in the Registrar's Office and Institutional Planning are to be thanked for posting the course master in early March, for spring/summer enrollment. At April 11, 2025, we have 554 FTE in SS (466 UG, 54 GR, and 34 other). In 2024-25, we concluded SS with 628 FTE, so are anticipating exceeding last year's total final enrolment.

The Fall/Winter course master is posted and will launch for registration in late April. We will continue to push for a February launch of the course master, so that students have the opportunity to discuss their prospective plans with their families over Reading Week. With staff restructuring, as well as procedural and technological improvements, it is the expectation that the course master for 2026-27 will launch in February 2026.

The domestic recruitment team is undertaking a calling campaign to all students with offers. NSO is scheduled for July 3 and 4.

3. We have begun Annual Program Review with the goal of rolling it out to all programs by June 2025. As we have discussed, the Annual Program Review is designed to provide an annual snapshot into program health in order that we are able to assess investment and the effectiveness of innovation on the long-term sustainability of programs. (Rubrics attached).

6. I am happy to report increasing stability in senior management positions. The Board is receiving two recommendations for academic administrative appointment committees:
 - a. The Dean EPS.
 - b. The Associate Dean, Arts and Science.
 - c. The Associate Dean, School of Nursing is just commencing its process.

GRADUATE PROGRAM REVIEW: ANNUAL SELF-ASSESSMENT

Preamble:

The purpose of this annual program review exercise is to reflect on the current status and delivery of your graduate program, with a goal of identifying what is working well and what areas require immediate versus longer range attention. While cyclical program review (IQAP) processes provide a comprehensive review of the program over a multi-year period, it does not provide an opportunity for programs to identify and respond to challenges that can be addressed to improve student experience and program health in a shorter time frame. The annual program review is meant to help you identify what you can take action on immediately so that the program continues to evolve year to year. This is particularly important within graduate programs as master's programs are designed to have complete student turnover within 1-2 years. The relatively short graduate program duration creates an opportunity to update, re-imagine, and address challenges quickly so that elements that do not support student progression impact a minimal number of students and exciting program changes can be implemented on a short time frame to improve the student experience and respond to timely and topical challenges within our cognate disciplines and the world at large.

Instructions:

The graduate program review asks you to reflect on 5 elements of your program (adapted from Berdahl et al.'s 2024 EDITS framework), each represented by several aspects. To what extent is your program Efficient? Deliberate? Inclusive? Talent Developing? Student Focused? Each element contains 4-7 aspects. To complete the program review, there are 3 parts:

1. Check the box(es) in the rubric (unsatisfactory-excellent) that best represents the current state of your program for that specific dimension.
2. Fill in the narrative to explain your self-assessment of the program's current state. This should be evidence-based where possible. Reflect on potential data sources such as: graduate studies data in the program review dashboard, graduate studies enrollment dashboard (time to completion), program curriculum map, and the graduate program fact sheet.
3. Complete the Prioritization section to identify your program's areas of priority and to set specific goals to address those priority areas. Identify the areas of greatest need for attention (i.e., which element has the lowest ratings? Which dimensions of each element are rated lowest?). While filling in the prioritization tab, consider the following:
 - For each item that is rated unsatisfactory, consider what strategies can be applied to improve its rating. Are there items where action can be initiated within the program?
 - For items rated satisfactory, are there ways in which these can be improved to 'good'?
 - How might the information in the program fact sheet help to inform strategies for improving your ratings?

APPENDIX A: GRADUATE PROGRAM FACT SHEET

The School of Graduate Studies and the graduate program will collaboratively complete the program fact sheet. This document is meant to provide a snapshot of a specific graduate program at NU in relation to comparable programs in Canada to help identify some of the ways in which we may be competitive with other programs and where we need to reconsider program characteristics.

Graduate Program:

COU Academic Colleagues

Report by Lanyan Chen

April 15-16, 2025

Meeting Notes

Evening meeting, April 15, 2025, 6:00 to 8:30 pm

The Academic Colleagues listened to a presentation in relation to “Discussion on Impacts of US Policies on Academic Activities at Ontario Universities” by guest, Dr. Sarah Laframboise, Executive Director of Evidence for Democracy. She shared The Evidence for Democracy tracker on the effects of American policies on Canadian research, and discussed:

- The activities underway in other countries to recruit American researchers, through relocating grants, fast-tracking of visas and direct recruitment.
- Challenges within Canada that may limit its ability to benefit from a “brain gain” of American researchers, such as its declining percentage of GDP expenditure on research and development, financial constraints in Ontario universities and international student caps.
- The equity, diversity and inclusion landscape, with an overall growing interest in the commitment to EDI within institutions, but some signals of waning interest at the federal level.
- The results of polling which show that Canadians are very supportive of science and research, with 90% of Canadians supporting investments in research even without immediate benefits.

During the discussion of the presentation, the following points were made:

- The possibility that international undergraduate students may choose to study in Canada rather than the US as a result of American policies.
- Concerns about American promotion of a merit-based system spilling over into Canada, and the importance of collecting evidence on the positive impacts of EDI across research and teaching activities as a pre-emptive measure.
- The reality that the US is Canada’s top source for research collaboration but the reverse is not the case.
- Concern about future missed career opportunities for researchers in light of travel advisories for the US, and the measures universities may take should researchers traveling to the US find themselves in difficult situations.

The Colleagues met on April 16, 2025 to prepare for the Members Meeting of April 17

Drawing on the presentation and discussion afterwards, Colleagues planned their presentation to the Members, grouping the topic into the following themes and speakers:

- Introductory remarks, Kim Hellemans, Carleton
- Impacts on research and researchers, Alison Flynn, Ottawa
- Impacts on undergraduate teaching and training, Mike Eklund, Ontario Tech
- Social impacts, Mary-Helen Armour, York
- Recommitting to equity, diversity and inclusion (EDI), Lanyan Chen, Nipissing

Information Sharing

Colleagues shared updates on topics and issues that were front-of-mind at their respective institutions, including ongoing institutional reviews on the topics of equity and civil discourse; continuing fiscal pressures due to budgetary constraints; changes in senior administrative positions; and ongoing and upcoming collective bargaining.

COU Update

An update was provided in relation to advocacy leading up to the provincial budget, anticipated in May, and recent signals from the provincial government, in its platform, about targeted funding for STEM programming.

Topics for future meetings

The following topics were suggested for future Academic Colleagues meetings:

- Revisiting the Scarborough Charter
- Collaboration across units within universities
- Academic freedom
- Future of work and skills development
- Ethics and integrity in academia
- Quality assurance processes
- Climate change/sustainability
- Accommodations with the Ontario Human Rights Commission
- Collegial governance

Upcoming meetings

Academic Colleagues: Tuesday, May 13, 6:00 to 8:30 pm, and Wednesday, May 14, 9:00 am to 12:00 noon (hybrid).

Earlier, the 2023-2024 Annual Report of the Ontario Universities Council on Quality Assurance was shared with Academic Colleagues which you can access at this link:

Ensuring Quality in Ontario Universities

1 THE FIRST and most obvious is what's inelegantly called the massification of university education. When I began my graduate work there were 14 publicly assisted universities in Ontario; now

oucqa.ca

Among the new programs that have been approved, congratulations to our colleagues at Nipissing University on the approval of the new Environmental Science program!

A notable point highlighted in the report is the forthcoming appointment of a new Chair of the Quality Council. This change may represent an opportunity to reflect on the future direction of Ontario's quality assurance system for university degree programming. The recent approval of programs in areas such as health care, mental health, social justice, the environment and emerging technologies may offer insight into the evolving priorities and areas of emphasis within the province's postsecondary landscape.
