

MEMORANDUM: Ratio between class hours and study hours

In order to be successful at the university level we have found that for every hour of in-class study, a student typically spends an additional 2-3 hours on readings, research, preparation and assignments/study, etc. Typically, each course has a minimum of three class hours per week. A copy of a student timetable will provide the number of hours in which a student is expected to attend class in a given week.

Stephen Tedesco
Associate Registrar, Scheduling and Registration